Achievements

THE POINT OF REGRET

Do you chase your dreams, or do they chase you? In the end, amidst the anger, the bitterness and the demented theories of a tortured mind, this is actually a story of courage, sacrifice and love.

Stootzmusic provided all the music, sound design, foley and final mixes for Emanation Films.

Simon Tate, Emanation Films' writer / director / producer, sent this testimonial:

"We looked at over fifty composers for our feature film "The Point Of Regret". It was one of the most hotly contested positions on the film and a very hard choice to make. I'm pleased that we chose Andy because he came through for us ten-fold and did the sound design as well. His music fits the difficult mood of the film perfectly and he had a great passion for the getting things absolutely right which, from a director's point of view, makes the ideal collaborator. And commercially . . . well, audiences to date have been blown away by Andy's score. This is the ultimate and well-deserved accolade."

When I listened to the tracks, I got goose pimples and knew that I had found the perfect composer.

"With a tight deadline and tiny budget Andy came up trumps due to his creativity and professional attitude. He had 4 days to come up with 4 tracks to fit my promotional video and more than rose to the challenge. He gave my project the perfect soundtrack and caught the exact mood I was looking for. His music certainly added value to the finished piece and I would highly recommend working with Andy".

"I believe that Andy is one of the reasons my first project was a success. He was committed; communicative; understanding; professional and hard-working. He went out of his way to help me, both on a creative and a practical level. He worked extraordinarily hard to a very tight deadline, producing a polished soundtrack that worked perfectly with the film. I would work with Andy again in a heartbeat."
